

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION OF GREAT BRITAIN

Is an association of individuals who are attached to Science and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are :—

- I. To promote Scientific and Literary Research ;
- II. To teach the principles of Inductive and Experimental Science ;
- III. To exhibit the Application of these Principles to the various Arts of Life ; and
- IV. To afford Opportunities for Study.

The ROYAL INSTITUTION comprises :—

I. A LABORATORY for the promotion and advancement of Chemical and Physical Science, by Experiments and original investigations. In this Laboratory the researches of PROFESSOR DAVY, of PROFESSOR FARADAY, and of PROFESSOR TYNDALL, extending over a period of above half a century, have been conducted. The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases, and the transmission of Heat through Gases,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last sixty years. The cost of these researches has been defrayed by the willing contributions of the Members, without any aid from the Government of the country.

II. PUBLIC LECTURES intended to supply that which Books or Private Instruction can rarely afford :—Experimental exhibition, highly illustrated ~~lectures~~ of matters connected with Science or Art. They usually comprehend a short Course at Christmas and Six or more Courses before and after Easter; the Session lasting from the middle of JANUARY to the middle of JUNE. The subjects of these Lectures are generally some of the different branches of ~~Knowledge~~ Science—as Mechanics, Chemistry, Heat, Light, Electricity, Astronomy, Geology, Botany, and Physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as in Literature, the Fine Arts, and Music.

III. WEEKLY MEETINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTION.—These are held on every FRIDAY EVENING during the Session, and the Members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by Ticket. The object of these Meetings is to bring together Men of Literature and Science, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by Discourses in the Theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently ascertained in the Scientific Memoirs of Philosophical Societies.

Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the Speakers, are printed in the "PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTION," and sent to the Members.—VOLUMES I. II. and III. 1841 to 1843 are ready, price, to Members 7s. 6d.; to Non-Members 12s. 6d. each volume, bound. The first twelve Annual Parts are sold at 2s. 6d. each; the succeeding Numbers for 1s. 6d. each.

IV. A MUSEUM containing Scientific Apparatus of historical interest, Mineral Specimens, and other collections.—The chief object of this Museum is to furnish Illustrations for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

V. A LIBRARY of about 33,000 Volumes, including Works of Science,—the Transactions of the principal British and Foreign Academies and Scientific Institutions,—British History and Topography, including the Ancient Chronicles, eminent Modern Historians, County Histories, and many rare productions relating to these subjects,—Works on Literature, Art, and Antiquarian Research,—the best Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign Literature,—as well as an extensive collection of Historical and Miscellaneous Tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

A NEW CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY (with a Synopsis of Contents and Indexes of Authors and Subjects) embracing nearly a thousand pages, has been prepared by MR. VINCENT, the Keeper of the Library. It is sold (bound) to the Members of the Royal Institution, for 10*s.*; to the Public, for 15*s.* A List of the Additions is printed annually, and sent to the Members.

In the UPPER LIBRARY will be found a classified collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Text-books, arranged for immediate reference.

VI. A READING ROOM FOR STUDY.—In this apartment will be found many Series of English, French, German, and Italian Scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of works on the Natural, Medical, and Mathematical Sciences.

VII. A NEWSPAPER ROOM, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY is subscribed to, in order to afford the Members an opportunity of seeing the Newest Books as soon as published.

* * * THE READING and NEWSPAPER ROOMS are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The UPPER LIBRARY is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the Season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

TERMS OF ADMISSION.

MEMBERS, proposed at any time, are balloted for at the next General Monthly Meeting, and pay on Admission Ten Guineas (Five Guineas as the first Annual Payment, and Five Guineas as a contribution to the Library Fund), or Sixty Guineas in lieu of all payments.

Members are admitted to ALL Lectures delivered in the Institution, to the Libraries, to the Museum, and to the Weekly Evening Meetings, and have the right of voting at the Monthly Meetings; they may also introduce by tickets two Friends to each of the Weekly Evening Meetings: and their Families have the privilege of attending the Lectures at a Reduced Charge:

And for every additional Subscription of Twenty Guineas at one time, or Three Guineas per Annum, each Member is entitled to introduce, personally, or by a written order, one Visitor to each of the Public Lectures.

ANNUAL SUBSCRIBERS to the Institution, pay Five Guineas, and One Guinea to the Library Fund, on Admission. They are admitted to all the Courses of Lectures delivered in the Theatre of the Institution, to the Libraries, and to the Newspaper Rooms, but have not the privilege of attending the Evening Meetings.

ADMISSION TO LECTURES.

 THE WIVES OF MEMBERS, and SONS and DAUGHTERS (under the age of Twenty-one) of MEMBERS, are admitted for the season to all Courses of Lectures, and to the Museum, on the payment each of One Guinea, and to any separate course of Lectures on the payment each of Half-a-Guinea.

SUBSCRIBERS TO LECTURES

For all the Courses of LECTURES (extending from Christmas to Midsummer) pay Two Guineas :

For a Single Course of LECTURES pay One Guinea or Half-a-Guinea, according to the length of the Course.

For the Christmas Course, Children under Sixteen years of age pay Half-a-Guinea.

THE ANNUAL REPORT
OF
THE VISITORS
OF
The Royal Institution of Great Britain,
FOR THE YEAR

1. In recording the result of their Examination of the Accounts of the Royal Institution for the past year, the Visitors may mention that they still find the Funds of the Institution increasing, not only from the Dividends of Stock directed to be accumulated, but also by the investment of the Excess of Income above the Annual Expenditure.

2. Among so numerous a body of Members as now belong to the Royal Institution, the decrease by Deaths and Resignations in each year becomes very large ; but this is more than counter-balanced by the accession of New Members, so that the amount of yearly contributions continues to increase, the Members contributing in the last year being Four Hundred and Fifteen, showing an increase of more than fifty per cent. in fifteen years, as in 1847 they only amounted to Two Hundred and Seventy-three. .

3. The number of Members who have compounded for their Annual Payments is now about Three Hundred and Fifty-three, which, together with the Members paying annually, and the new Members in the year 1862, form a total of more than Eight Hundred Members.

4. The Receipts from Subscribers to the various Courses of Lectures were not so great in 1862 as in some former years, for which the Visitors cannot but express their regret ; but they think that the special circumstances of depression which existed during that year, and which affected most public bodies, may in some degree account for the diminution. But the value of any series of Lectures is not to be estimated simply by the amount of attendance thereon ; because Lectures of the greatest depth and research can scarcely be expected to attract so large an audience as those of a more rudimentary and popular nature. Each, however, has its own peculiar merit, and Discourses which stimulate youth in pursuing the path of science and experimental inquiry, may ultimately be equally beneficial in result with those which assume a higher character, and strike out new lines of discovery or invention.

5. The total of Subscriptions to Lectures in the year was £560, while the payments to Lecturers and other attendant expenses amounted to £669, leaving therefore rather more than £100 to be borne by the Institution out of its general income, in return for the advantage derived by the Members from being entitled to attend the Courses delivered during the season, which it will be seen from the Appendix to the Report consisted of Ten different Courses, including Sixty-two Lectures.

6. In addition to which, Twenty-one Discourses were delivered at the Weekly Evening Meetings, by the Professors and other gentlemen of eminence in the literary and scientific world, whose endeavours to instruct were appreciated by numerous and attentive audiences.

7. The Election of the PRINCE OF WALES as an Honorary Member, and His Royal Highness's gracious acceptance of the office of Vice-Patron of the Royal Institution, which had been so ably and honourably filled by his late revered Father, are facts on which the Visitors feel that they only give utterance to the general idea of the Members, in stating that they must be considered as subjects of congratulation, and not only auspicious for the future welfare of the Institution, but of high and happy promise that his Royal Highness may, in many instances, tread in the footsteps of a Father, who cannot be said to be wholly lost while his character remains as a bright example to his family, and his memory is held in honour by the nation which his virtues adorned and ennobled.

8. The Letters in reference to the appointment of His Royal Highness as Vice-Patron, are set forth in the usual records of the Proceedings; and may be there seen by any Members desirous of recurring to the correspondence.

9. The separate Accounts of the Laboratory and Library Fund were included as usual in the Examination of the Visitors, and may be considered in a satisfactory state—the Balance in hand upon each having increased during the year, and the Library Fund showing a considerable amount at the disposal of the Patrons for the selection of new and standard works.

10. Numerous Presents of Books were received during the year, as well from individuals including Members of the Institution, as from Domestic and Foreign Societies.

The acquisitions in the shape of Presents were not, however, limited to the Library, several gifts of specimens and machinery having been received, among the most valuable of which may be mentioned an Electric Lamp, by Duboscq, with accompanying Microscope and Screen, and other apparatus, presented by WARREN DE LA RUE, Esq., which have been found very useful to the Professors in the exemplification of practical science, and for which he is fully entitled to the thanks of his fellow-members.

11. A considerable increase of modern Philosophical Apparatus continues to be made out of the Annual Donation liberally devoted to that purpose by Sir HENRY HOLLAND, Bart., one of the Vice-Presidents: and the Visitors may record with pleasure that the degree of appreciation manifested at the last Monthly Meeting of the Members for this valuable contribution, was productive of an agreeable announcement from an old and highly distinguished member, Sir RODERICK MURCHISON, who stated that he would willingly give an annual sum of Twenty Pounds to augment the means of supplying proper and suitable philosophical apparatus; or if it would be more beneficial for the objects of the Institution, he would at once devote a larger sum for that purpose.

While such instances of spirited and liberal assistance in promoting the great objects of the Royal Institution are shown by its Members, there can be no cause for fear that it will decrease in public estimation, or fall off from the well-earned reputation of former years.

12. On a general review of the position of the Royal Institution, the Visitors are happy to report that it presents a prospect of steady and progressive advance in the path of science; and that under the able guidance of the Board of Managers, assisted by the valuable services of the Honorary Officers and the Professors of the Institution, it may yet aspire to a greater degree of usefulness, and attain a higher point of eminence and distinction among the learned and scientific societies of the world than it has yet reached, even under the auspices of a FARADAY, to whose talents and exertions the Visitors can never be unmindful that a large portion of its present success and honour must be ascribed.

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION

Is an association of individuals who are attached to Science, and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are :—

- I. To promote Scientific and Literary Research ;
- II. To teach the Principles of Inductive and Experimental Science ;
- III. To exhibit the Application of these Principles to the various Arts of Life ; and
- IV. To afford opportunities for Study.

The ROYAL INSTITUTION comprises :—

I. TWO LABORATORIES for the promotion and advancement of Chemical and Physical Science, by experiments and original investigations. In these the researches of PROFESSOR DAVY, of PROFESSOR FARADAY, and of PROFESSOR TYNDALL, extending over a period of above half-a-century, have been conducted. The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of Matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases,—the relation of Magnetism and Light,—the Physical Effects of Pressure,—the Absorption and Radiation of Heat by Gases and Vapours,—the Transparency of our Atmosphere, and the Opacity of its Aqueous Vapour to Radiant Heat,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last sixty years. In the Chemical Laboratory, formed out of the lower lecture-room, PROFESSOR FRANKLAND carried on his researches in Organic Chemistry. The cost of these investigations has been partly defrayed by the voluntary contributions of many of the Members, who in addition to their ordinary subscriptions have formed a Donation Fund to be expended by the Managers in any way that they may consider most desirable for the promotion of Experimental Research. One Member has already given nine Annual Donations of Forty pounds each; in 1863, the sum subscribed was 455*l.* 10*s.*; in 1864, 395*l.* 5*s.*; in 1865, 191*l.* 10*s.*; in 1866, 248*l.* 5*s.*; in 1867, 136*l.* 10*s.*; in 1868, 127*l.* 5*s.*

II. PUBLIC LECTURES intended to supply that which Books or Private Instruction can rarely afford:—Experimental exhibition, highly illustrated delineation, or detailed descriptions of matters connected with Science or Art. They usually comprehend, a short Course at Christmas, and Six or more Courses, before and after Easter; the Season lasting from the middle of January to the middle of June. The subjects of these Lectures are generally some of the different branches of Inductive Science—as Mechanics, Chemistry, Heat, Light, Electricity, Astronomy, Geology, Botany, and Physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as on Literature, the Fine Arts, and Music.

III. WEEKLY MEETINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTION.—These are held on every Friday Evening during the Session, and the Members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by Tickets. The object of these Meetings is to bring together men of science and literature, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by Discourses in the Theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently recorded in the Scientific Memoirs of Philosophical Societies. Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the Speakers, are printed in the “PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTION,” a copy of which is sent to the Members. Volumes I. II. III. and IV. (1851 to 1866) are ready, price, to Members,

7s. 6d.; to Non-Members, 10s. 6d. each volume, bound. The Numbers for 1863 to 1869 are sold for 1s. 6d. or 3s. each.

IV. A MUSEUM, containing Scientific Apparatus of historical interest, Mineral Specimens, and other collections.—The chief object of this Museum is to furnish apparatus for research, and illustrations for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

V. A LIBRARY of about 36,000 volumes, including Works of Science,—the Transactions of the principal British and Foreign Academies and Scientific Institutions,—British History and Topography, including the Ancient Chronicles, eminent Modern Historians, County Histories, and many rare publications relating to these subjects,—Works on Literature, Art, and Antiquarian Research,—the best Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign Literature,—and an extensive collection of Historical and Miscellaneous Tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

THE NEW CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY (with a Synopsis of Contents and Indexes of Authors and Subjects) by MR. VINCENT, the Keeper of the Library, is sold (bound) to the Members of the Royal Institution, for 10s.; to the Public, for 15s. A List of the Additions is printed annually, and sent to the Members.

In the UPPER LIBRARY will be found a collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Scientific Text-books, arranged to facilitate immediate reference.

VI. A READING ROOM FOR STUDY.—In this apartment will be found many Series of English, French, German, and Italian Scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of Works on the Natural, Medical, and Mathematical Sciences.

VII. A NEWSPAPER ROOM, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY is subscribed to, in order to afford the Members an opportunity of seeing the Newest Books as soon as published.

* * The READING and NEWSPAPER ROOMS are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The UPPER LIBRARY is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

OF
OF
The Royal Institution of Great Britain,

1. The past year has been one of a chequered character for the Royal Institution; many old and valued friends have been taken away, but a strong band of young and active supporters have joined its ranks; and it must be gratifying to the Members to feel, that while they are deriving advantage and information through the facility which it affords for inquiry in science, and by the opportunity for intellectual improvement, they are also contributing to a well-organized and self-supporting Institution, which, if administered in a similar spirit to that which has hitherto guided its course, will continue to be of eminent use in after generations.

2. Not less than fifty new Members were admitted in the year 1868, of whom seven paid Life Compositions of Sixty Guineas each, and two old Members also paid Compositions in lieu of future annual payments. The Receipts in the year for admission of new Members and Compositions amounted to near One Thousand Pounds. In the year 1867 there were forty new Members, of whom six paid Life Compositions, and the Receipts from those sources were £735, while in the previous year they amounted only to £556. This shows a steady improvement and recovery from the temporary depression which the late monetary crisis had caused in most public societies.

3. The sums received for Subscriptions to Lectures have been also very satisfactory, though not quite equal in amount to those of some former years; but they have been considerably more than sufficient to meet the extra expenses attendant thereon, including all payments to Lecturers, and have yielded a surplus of more than £200 towards the general support of the Institution, without reckoning any portion of the Contributions from those Members who have been enabled to attend the Lectures.

4. Investments have been made in the past year in the Three per Cent. Consols for £582, while the general balance in hand has been increased by £200, thus showing a pecuniary improvement in the position of the Institution of nearly Eight Hundred Pounds. As this increase arises solely from the benefactions of deceased Members, or from the contributions of those still existing, it must be felt that the Royal Institution is in a satisfactory state of material progress and prosperity.

5. In the year 1834 one of the Members, JOHN FULLER, Esquire, of Devonshire Place, St. Marylebone, and Rose Hill, Sussex, in addition to two other previous benefactions, founding and endowing the Fullerian Professorships of Chemistry and Physiology, invested Three Thousand Pounds Three per Cent. Consols in the names of the Duke of Somerset, at that time President, and of three other Members of the Royal Institution, upon trust to invest and accumulate the dividends thereof until the principal and interest should amount to Ten Thousand Pounds Three per Cent. Consols, and then to pay the dividends thereof to the Members of the Royal Institution, to be applied and disposed of as the Committee of Managers should think proper.

The Dividends upon the fund thus created have continued to be invested from 1834 to 1868, when the amount of Ten Thousand Pounds Stock named by the Donor was completed. From henceforth the dividends are applicable to the promotion of the general objects of the Royal Institution, according to the discretion of the Managers for the time being, and a part of the increased income has been already advantageously appropriated in augmenting the salaries of the Professors.

6. The older Members who can still call to mind the liberal and kind-hearted Gentleman who made these handsome donations for the advancement of Science and the benefit of succeeding Members will readily unite in a grateful expression of respect for the Donor, and in showing to their fellow-members how great a benefit to Science may be effected through the kindness and forethought of an individual in applying the means at his command, even though he might not be enabled to point out the exact path of future investigation and discovery.

7. There are doubtless among existing Members some capable of emulating the noble example set in bygone days, and an abiding interest has indeed been shown in the welfare of the Institution by several of its more zealous and valuable friends, in continuing Annual Donations to the Research Fund; but the Visitors feel that on recording the completion of the Fullerian Investment they are bound to call the particular attention of the Members of the Institution to the name of JOHN FULLER, its chief benefactor.

8. The Annual Accounts for 1868 have been duly examined by the Visitors, and checked with the Vouchers and Bankers' books, and appear to be correct. The statement of the Laboratory Fund includes only the receipts up to the time of the alteration of the Bye-Laws in 1868, and the balance appearing thereon is carried to the credit of the General Account.

Part of the balance appearing in hand on the account of the Library and Mineralogical Fund has been applied for bookbinding and in the purchase of new books, and the remainder will be gradually absorbed in payments for those purposes. It has been found desirable, with the view of obtaining more available space for new works, to part with a large number of old and comparatively useless volumes; some of which have been sold, producing a net amount of more than £100, while others have been presented to several neighbouring hospitals and to scientific institutions.

9. The appointment of Professor ODLING to the Fullerian Professorship of Chemistry, and to be Director of the Chemical Laboratory, is one which appears likely to conduce to the advantage of the Institution. The Christmas Course of Juvenile Lectures given by that gentleman was well attended, and from the skill displayed in adapting his subject to the capacity of his audience, a great degree of satisfaction was afforded, and some youthful minds were doubtless enlisted or encouraged in the path of experimental science, while to a larger portion, much useful information was given through the faculty possessed by the Professor of conveying information in a pleasing and intelligible manner.

10. A considerable outlay has been made in the past year in improving the mode of warming and ventilating the Theatre, of which many complaints had been made, and the Visitors consider that it has been attended with a great degree of success; but the complete ventilation of a large building, with a great variety in the numbers of the audience, and in the external temperature, is attended with some difficulty; and the admission of fresh air into the building requires much watchfulness and care, especially in the cold season.

11. An additional facility for egress from the Theatre on Friday Evenings, which has been adopted by making use of the second staircase, deserves commendation as calculated to allay anxiety in case of any sudden danger or alarm.

12. The Friday Evening Meetings have continued to be well attended, and to afford much gratification to the Members and their friends; and in conclusion, the Visitors feel that they may congratulate their fellow Members upon the general position and efficiency of the Institution.

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION

Is an association of individuals who are attached to Science, and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are :—

- I. To promote Scientific and Literary Research ;
- II. To teach the Principles of Inductive and Experimental Science ;
- III. To exhibit the Application of these Principles to the various Arts of Life ; and
- IV. To afford opportunities for Study.

The ROYAL INSTITUTION comprises :—

I. TWO LABORATORIES for the promotion and advancement of Chemical and Physical Science, by experiments and original investigations. In these the researches of PROFESSOR DAVY, of PROFESSOR FARADAY, and of PROFESSOR TYNDALL, extending over a period of above half-a-century, have been conducted. The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of Matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases,—the relation of Magnetism and Light,—the Physical Effects of Pressure,—the Absorption and Radiation of Heat by Gases and Vapours,—the Transparency of our Atmosphere, and the Opacity of its Aqueous Vapour to Radiant Heat,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last sixty years. In the Chemical Laboratory, formed out of the lower lecture-room, PROFESSOR FRANKLAND carried on his researches in Organic Chemistry. The cost of these investigations has been partly defrayed by the voluntary contributions of many of the Members, who in addition to their ordinary subscriptions have formed a Donation Fund to be expended by the Managers in any way that they may consider most desirable for the promotion of Experimental Research. One Member has already given nine Annual Donations of Forty pounds each; in 1863, the sum subscribed was 455*l.* 10*s.*; in 1864, 395*l.* 5*s.*; in 1865, 191*l.* 10*s.*; in 1866, 248*l.* 5*s.*; in 1867, 136*l.* 10*s.*; in 1868, 127*l.* 5*s.*

II. PUBLIC LECTURES intended to supply that which Books or Private Instruction can rarely afford:—Experimental exhibition, highly illustrated delineation, or detailed descriptions of matters connected with Science or Art. They usually comprehend, a short Course at Christmas, and Six or more Courses, before and after Easter; the Season lasting from the middle of January to the middle of June. The subjects of these Lectures are generally some of the different branches of Inductive Science—as Mechanics, Chemistry, Heat, Light, Electricity, Astronomy, Geology, Botany, and Physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as on Literature, the Fine Arts, and Music.

III. WEEKLY MEETINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTION.—These are held on every Friday Evening during the Session, and the Members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by Tickets. The object of these Meetings is to bring together men of science and literature, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by Discourses in the Theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently recorded in the Scientific Memoirs of Philosophical Societies. Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the Speakers, are printed in the “PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTION,” a copy of which is sent to the Members. Volumes I. II. III. IV. and V. (1851 to 1869) are ready, price, to Members,

7s. 6d.; to Non-Members, 10s. 6d. each volume, bound. The Numbers for 1863 to 1870 are sold for 1s. 6d. or 3s. each.

IV. A MUSEUM, containing Scientific Apparatus of historical interest, Mineral Specimens, and other collections.—The chief object of this Museum is to furnish apparatus for research, and illustrations for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

V. A LIBRARY of about 36,000 volumes, including Works of Science,—the Transactions of the principal British and Foreign Academies and Scientific Institutions,—British History and Topography, including the Ancient Chronicles, eminent Modern Historians, County Histories, and many rare publications relating to these subjects,—Works on Literature, Art, and Antiquarian Research,—the best Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign Literature,—and an extensive collection of Historical and Miscellaneous Tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

THE NEW CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY (with a Synopsis of Contents and Indexes of Authors and Subjects) by MR. VINCENT, the Keeper of the Library, is sold (bound) to the Members of the Royal Institution, for 10s.; to the Public, for 15s. A List of the Additions is printed annually, and sent to the Members.

In the UPPER LIBRARY will be found a collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Scientific Text-books, arranged to facilitate immediate reference.

VI. A READING ROOM FOR STUDY.—In this apartment will be found many Series of English, French, German, and Italian Scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of Works on the Natural, Medical, and Mathematical Sciences.

VII. A NEWSPAPER ROOM, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY is subscribed to, in order to afford the Members an opportunity of seeing the Newest Books as soon as published.

* * The READING and NEWSPAPER ROOMS are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The UPPER LIBRARY is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

THE ANNUAL REPORT

1. The Visitors have made their annual examination of the Accounts submitted to them by the Managers, which appear to be correct, and give a very satisfactory result, as the annual receipts are considerably more than in the previous year, and show an increased balance at the close of the year; although Eight Hundred Pounds had been invested in the Three per Cent. Consols, and the balance at the end of 1869 affords the means of making a larger investment in the current year.

2. The separate account of the Library and Mineralogical Fund has now been brought to a final close, the Balance at the commencement of 1869 having been applied in the purchase of books and periodical publications, and in defraying the expense of bookbinding. Henceforward the purchase of new books will have to be borne by the general income of the Institution, but there will not be any deduction out of the Entrance money received from new Members, which will be wholly available for the general purposes of the Institution, instead of a portion thereof being specifically set aside for the Library Fund, as was the case in former years. Three Hundred and Eighty-eight new volumes have been added to the Library, by which it has been maintained in at least as good a state of efficiency as previously; and an ample supply of the current literature of the day is open to those Members who are able to resort to the Library for reading.

3. The continued development of the sphere of usefulness of the Royal Institution is shown by the number of its Members, which is now unprecedentedly large, and by the Subscriptions for attendance at the Lectures, the amount of which has greatly increased in the last year, and is now higher than for many years past. This is a position which must be considered as reflecting much credit on the Professors of the Institution, as well as on the other Gentlemen who have been selected by the Managers to deliver Lectures in the past year.

The Visitors therefore see with much satisfaction, that the Managers have been enabled to make an addition to the Salaries of the Professors, and they venture to express a hope that the gradual increase of Funds may make it practicable for a further degree of liberality to be exercised in future.

4. Some of the Lectures during the past year have been honoured with the presence of H.R.H. the PRINCE OF WALES and other Members of the Royal Family; and it must be gratifying to the Members to find that an Institution which, at its commencement in 1799, received the voluntary Patronage of His Majesty King George the Third, has been deemed worthy of support by the present Sovereign and various Members of Her Majesty's Family. The Institution has always been, and still is, essentially self-supporting, but some portion of its success must undoubtedly be attributed to the distinction conferred upon it by its Royal Patrons.

5. The Friday Evening Meetings have been attended during the Season by intelligent and attentive Audiences, and an acknowledgment of their efforts is justly due to the Gentlemen who contributed by their discourses on those occasions to the information and advantage of the Members and their Friends.

6. Printed Reports of the Monthly Meetings, and of the Friday Evening Discourses, have been circulated as previously among the Members, conveying much information to those who have not been able to give their personal attendance, and forming a valuable record of the proceedings.

7. The improved arrangement of the seats in the Theatre has greatly conduced to the comfort and convenience of the Members and others attending the various Courses of Lectures: and the Visitors consider that the best thanks of the Members at large are due to the Committee of Managers for the attention given by them to the interest and welfare of the Institution.

8. It does not appear to the Visitors necessary on this occasion to trouble their Fellow Members with a very long Report: they think that facts are better than words, and to all those Members of the Royal Institution who take a particular interest in its progress, the perusal of the Accounts must be an assurance that there exists an ample guarantee for its permanence and prosperity.

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION

Is an association of individuals who are attached to Science, and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are :—

- I. To promote Scientific and Literary Research ;
- II. To teach the Principles of Inductive and Experimental Science ;
- III. To exhibit the Application of these principles to the various Arts of Life ; and
- IV. To afford opportunities for Study.

The ROYAL INSTITUTION comprises :—

I. TWO LABORATORIES for the promotion of Chemical and Physical Science, by experiments and original investigations. In the Physical Laboratory the researches of PROFESSOR DAVY, of PROFESSOR FARADAY, and of PROFESSOR TYNDALL, were conducted. The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the Establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the Science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of Matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases,—the relation of Magnetism and Light,—the Physical Effects of Pressure on Diamagnetic Action,—the Absorption and Radiation of Heat by Gases and Vapours,—the Transparency of our Atmosphere, and the Opacity of its Aqueous Vapour to Radiant Heat and Sound,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Physical Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last seventy years. In the Chemical Laboratory, formed out of the lower lecture-room, PROFESSOR FRANKLAND made some of his most important researches in Organic Chemistry. These Laboratories were rebuilt in 1872 by the liberality of the Members, in order that the Institution should not be inferior to other places in the means by which Original Discovery can be carried on ; and the liberal and permanent Endowment of the Professorships is now the chief thing wanting to ensure the promotion of Scientific Research.

II. PUBLIC LECTURES intended to supply that which Books or Private Instruction can rarely afford :—Experimental illustration and detailed descriptions of matters connected with Science or Art. They usually comprehend, a short Course at Christmas, and Six or more Courses, before and after Easter ; the Season lasting from the middle of January to the middle of June. The subjects of these Lectures are generally some of the different branches of Inductive Science—as Mechanics, Chemistry, Heat, Light, Electricity, Astronomy, Geology, Botany, and Physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as on History, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Literature, the Fine Arts, and Music.

III. WEEKLY MEETINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTION.—These are held on every Friday Evening during the Session, and the Members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by Tickets. The object of these Meetings is to bring together men of science and literature, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by Discourses in the Theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently recorded in the Scientific Memoirs of Philosophical Societies. Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the Speakers, are printed in the “PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTION,” a copy of which is sent to the Members. Volumes I. to VI. (1851 to 1872) are ready, price, to Members, 7s. 6d.; to Non-Members, 10s. 6d. each volume, bound. The Numbers for 1863 to 1874 (two each year) are sold for 1s. 6d. or 3s. each.

IV. A MODEL ROOM, containing Scientific Apparatus of historical interest and of present use.—The chief object of this collection is to furnish apparatus for research, and illustrations for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

V. A LIBRARY of about 36,000 volumes, including Works of Science,—the Transactions of the principal British and Foreign Academies and Scientific Institutions,—British History and Topography, including the Ancient Chronicles, eminent Modern Historians, County Histories, and many rare publications relating to these subjects,—Works on Literature, Art, and Antiquarian Research,—the best Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign Literature,—and an extensive collection of Historical and Miscellaneous Tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

THE CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY (with a Synopsis of Contents and Indexes of Authors and Subjects) by MR. VINCENT, the Keeper of the Library, is sold (bound) to the Members of the Royal Institution, for 10s.; to the Public, for 15s. A List of the Additions is printed annually, and sent to the Members.

In the UPPER LIBRARY will be found a collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Scientific Text-books, arranged for immediate reference.

VI. A READING ROOM FOR STUDY.—In this apartment will be found many Series of English, French, German, and Italian Scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of Works on the Natural, Medical, and Mathematical Sciences.

VII. A NEWSPAPER ROOM, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY is subscribed to, in order to afford the Members an opportunity of seeing the Newest Books as soon as published.

* * The READING and NEWSPAPER ROOMS are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The UPPER LIBRARY is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

OF
THE VISITORS
OF THE
Royal Institution of Great Britain
FOR THE YEAR 1873.

1. Notwithstanding the lamented loss of several distinguished Members in the past year, the Royal Institution has never shown a fairer prospect of success than at present, or a better promise of continued efficiency.

2. The Number of Members who contribute annually is increasing, and now amounts to One Hundred and Twenty more than in 1863.

3. The yearly Accounts have been carefully examined by the Committee of Visitors, and compared with the Ledger and Vouchers and the Bankers' Pass Book, and are found to be correctly stated, the Cash Balance in hand at the end of the year having been increased by the sum of Nine Hundred and Ninety Pounds.

An Investment of Five Hundred Pounds out of the Compositions received from New Members has also been made in the purchase of Stock in the Three per Cent. Consols; but the Managers were compelled to raise Three Thousand Pounds by the sale of Stock, to enable them to discharge the balance of cost of the New Laboratories, which have now been completed at a total expense of more than Six Thousand Pounds.

It must be a subject of congratulation that this has been borne by the Institution out of funds contributed by its own Members; and although this has been a heavy charge upon its resources, it is not larger than the surplus income for a few years will probably be able to reimburse.

The Physical Laboratory has been thoroughly fitted up under the superintendence of DOCTOR TYNDALL, and in compliance with his suggestions as to its convenience and requirements.

4. The Subscriptions to Lectures have exceeded the amount received in the previous year, and are above the average of the last ten years, continuing to realize a considerable surplus beyond the expenditure for Lectures, applicable to the general expense of the Institution. Sixty-two Lectures were delivered in thirteen different courses of scientific instruction, most of which were well attended.

5. The decease of DR. BENCE JONES soon after the date of the last Annual Report, called for a warm expression of regret and sympathy from the Members, who thoroughly appreciated his intelligence and the great advantages which they had derived from his able and zealous services on behalf of the Institution, and particularly in support of scientific research, of which he was an ardent promoter.

An excellent Bust in marble by WOOLNER of the late Honorary Secretary has been placed in the Ante-room to the Theatre, by Subscription of some of the Members who were well acquainted with his merit. The Members are indebted to LADY MILLICENT BENCE JONES for presenting portraits of PROFESSORS FARADAY, TYNDALL, and HOFMANN, which must be considered valuable and interesting as commemorative of the services of three worthy colleagues of her late esteemed husband.

A fine classical Bust of MRS. SOMERVILLE, by L. MACDONALD, presented by an old and esteemed Member, J. P. GASSIOT, Esq. must also be mentioned.

6. The appointment of the former Treasurer, WILLIAM SPOTTISWOODE, Esq. F.R.S. to be Honorary Secretary, has proved a successful effort to put the right man in the right place, as his acquaintance with literary men and his position in the world of science have enabled him to make very satisfactory arrangements for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

7. These have been continued with much advantage and pleasure to the Members and their friends, who during the last Season derived additional gratification from the frequent attendance of the late President.

The subsequent decease of SIR HENRY HOLLAND, Bart. at a ripe and honoured old age, elicited an expression of sincere regret and of sympathy with his family from the Managers and the Members at large.

He continued to the last to exhibit the accurate knowledge of men and manners which he had acquired during many years of travel and experience, and to practise that uniform courtesy which seemed the genuine expression of his own natural feelings.

8. The Visitors, in concurrence with the unanimous feeling of the Members, fully approve the course taken by the Managers in obtaining the consent of the DUKE OF NORTHUMBERLAND to be put in nomination for the office of President, more especially as His Grace, in a courteous reply to the communication of the Managers, stated that he yielded to none of his predecessors in the interest which its President ought to feel in the progress and welfare of the Institution.

9. The selection of GEORGE BUSK, Esq. F.R.S. as Treasurer seems to the Visitors to have been well justified by the business-like qualities which he had manifested as a Manager.

10. No successor has yet been appointed to DOCTOR ODLING as Fullerian Professor of Chemistry; but the Managers have fixed the 4th of May for filling up the vacancy caused by his acceptance of the Professorship of Chemistry at Oxford, in which the Visitors trust that his talent and energy will secure him an equal appreciation to that which he had deservedly obtained in the Royal Institution, where his loss has been greatly felt and regretted.

11. More than Two Hundred and Fifty Volumes have been added to the Library in the past year, of which nearly half were presented by Members and friends, or by English and Foreign Societies; but the additions do not probably more than counterbalance the gradual decrease in value of the older books. The fugitive works of the day are now so readily supplied by circulating libraries, that there is no necessity for purchasing many new books; the works of sterling merit and permanent value coming few and far between in the long lists of new publications.

12. Since the Patrons of the Library have ceased to be an active body in the Royal Institution, the responsibility of selecting new works has entirely devolved upon the Board of Managers and the Professors, who have been greatly assisted by the experience and judgment of the Librarian, not only in selecting sterling works, but also in rejecting those of doubtful value. All important scientific works and books of reference are purchased immediately after their publication.

It may be desirable to state, especially for the information of young Members, that a book is kept for entering the titles of new publications which it may be considered desirable to acquire, and that this can be readily referred to on application to the Librarian.

13. Much responsibility has been thrown upon the Managers from the pulling down of the large contiguous buildings recently used as the Clarendon Hotel, the greater height and size of the new buildings having called for the exercise of a great degree of vigilance and management to prevent serious deterioration in the lighting and ventilation of the buildings of the Institution. For this, and for their constant attention to the interest of the Royal Institution, the Managers are well entitled to the cordial thanks of the Members.

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION

Is an association of individuals who are attached to Science, and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are :—

- I. To promote Scientific and Literary Research ;
- II. To teach the Principles of Inductive and Experimental Science ;
- III. To exhibit the Application of these principles to the various Arts of Life ; and
- IV. To afford opportunities for Study.

The ROYAL INSTITUTION comprises :—

I. TWO LABORATORIES for the promotion of Chemical and Physical Science, by experiments and original investigations.
In the Physical Laboratory the researches of PROFESSOR DAVY, of
PROFESSOR FARADAY, and of PROFESSOR TYNDALL, were conducted.

The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the Establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the Science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of Matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases,—the relation of Magnetism and Light,—the Physical Effects of Pressure on Diamagnetic Action,—the Absorption and Radiation of Heat by Gases and Vapours,—the Transparency of our Atmosphere, and the Opacity of its Aqueous Vapour to Radiant Heat, the Atmosphere as a Vehicle of Sound, and its Optical Condition in its bearings on Putrefaction and Infection,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Physical Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last seventy-five years. In the Chemical Laboratory, formed out of the lower lecture-room, PROFESSOR FRANKLAND made some of his most important researches in Organic Chemistry. These Laboratories were rebuilt in 1872 by the liberality of the Members, in order that the Institution should not be inferior to other places in the means by which Original Discovery can be carried on; and the liberal and permanent Endowment of the Professorships is now the chief thing wanting to ensure the promotion of Scientific Research.

II. PUBLIC LECTURES intended to supply that which Books or Private Instruction can rarely afford:—Experimental illustration and detailed descriptions of matters connected with Science or Art. They usually comprehend, a short Course at Christmas, and Six or more Courses, before and after Easter; the Season lasting from the middle of January to the middle of June. The subjects of these Lectures are generally some of the different branches of Inductive Science—as Mechanics, Chemistry, Heat, Light, Electricity, Astronomy, Geology, Botany, and Physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as on History, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Literature, the Fine Arts, and Music.

III. WEEKLY MEETINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTION.—These are held on every Friday Evening during the Session, and the Members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by Tickets. The object of these Meetings is to bring together men of science and literature, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by Discourses in the Theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently recorded in the Scientific Memoirs of Philosophical Societies. Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the Speakers, are printed in the “PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTION,” a copy of which is sent to the Members. Volumes I. to VII. (1851 to 1875) are ready, price, to Members, 7s. 6d.; to Non-Members, 10s. 6d. each volume, bound. The Numbers for 1863 to 1876 (two each year) are sold for 1s. 6d. or 3s. each.

IV. A MODEL ROOM, containing Scientific Apparatus of historical interest and of present use.—The chief object of this collection is to furnish apparatus for research, and illustrations for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

V. A LIBRARY of about 36,000 volumes, including Works of Science,—the Transactions of the principal British and Foreign Academies and Scientific Institutions,—British History and Topography, including the Ancient Chronicles, eminent Modern Historians, County Histories, and many rare publications relating to these subjects,—Works on Literature, Art, and Antiquarian Research,—the best Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign Literature,—and an extensive collection of Historical and Miscellaneous Tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

THE CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY (with a Synopsis of Contents and Indexes of Authors and Subjects) by MR. VINCENT, the Keeper of the Library, is sold (bound) to the Members of the Royal Institution, for 10s.; to the Public for 15s. A List of the Additions is printed annually, and sent to the Members.

In the UPPER LIBRARY will be found a collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Scientific Text-books, arranged for immediate reference.

VI. A READING ROOM FOR STUDY.—In this apartment will be found many Series of English, French, German, and Italian Scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of Works on the Natural, Medical, and Mathematical Sciences.

VII. A NEWSPAPER ROOM, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY is subscribed to, in order to afford the Members an opportunity of seeing the Newest Books as soon as published.

* * The READING and NEWSPAPER ROOMS are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The UPPER LIBRARY is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

OF
THE VISITORS
OF THE
Royal Institution of Great Britain

1. The Visitors have the pleasure to record another year of successful progress in the life of the Institution; upwards of Fifty New Members having been admitted, and the Subscriptions to Lectures received in the year amounting to more than One Thousand Pounds. This is a larger sum than appears to have been received in any previous year; and after deducting the whole expense connected with the Lectures, leaves a Balance of Two Hundred and Seventy-five Pounds applicable to general purposes.

This must be considered a very satisfactory result, showing that much care has been taken in selecting the different courses of Lectures, the variety and interest of which during the past year have been highly appreciated. A large part of the increased amount received has been in respect of the Juvenile Course of Lectures delivered at Christmas last by PROFESSOR TYNDALL with his usual ability and success.

The Fullerian Professor of Physiology, ALFRED H. GARROD, Esq., has shown an earnest desire to fulfil the duties of his office, by promoting the study of Comparative Anatomy and Physiology by means of specimens, models, and diagrams.

2. The Accounts of the Managers have been examined and compared with the Vouchers and Ledger, and with the Bankers'

Exchequer Bill and are found to be correctly stated. Exchequer Bills for One Thousand Pounds have been sold by the Managers, on the positive interest in the purchase of New Three per Cent Bank Annuities in the name of the Institution. Investments have also continued to be made of the money received from Members' Compositions for all future payments, and the sums invested in the past year have produced Seven Hundred and Thirteen Pounds Three per Cent Annuity, and Five Hundred and Thirty Pounds New Three per Cent, by which the whole of the Stock sold out in 1871 to defray the expense of erecting the Laboratories, has now been completely replaced, and the Stock belonging to the Institution which at the end of 1872 was £81,113, now amounts to £81,681.

8. It will be seen that the Expenditure has been less than in the previous year by upwards of Five Hundred Pounds, but the comparative improvement is principally owing to the decreased amount paid for repairs and drawings, for which a large sum has been delayed in 1874, after the completion of the new Laboratories; there has also been a considerable decrease in the expense incurred for Bookbinding, while the cost of Printing and some other items have been larger than before.

It has not been found requisite to incur any expense for new Furniture; but from the increased number of Members, which is now larger than at any former period, a considerable outlay must be incurred on the average of years for their use and convenience.

The Visitors consider that the Ventilation of the Lecture Room, regarding which much complaint has been made, might be further improved, more especially as the increase in the number of Members must probably require additional means of Ventilation.

4. As in former years, the value of the Library has been increased, One Hundred and Sixty-seven standard and useful Books having been purchased, at a cost of more than One Hundred and Twenty Pounds; and about One Hundred and Fifty Volumes have been presented by Members and Friends.

5. The discourses delivered at the Friday Evening Meetings by the Professors and other eminent men have afforded pleasure combined with instruction, and continue to extend the knowledge of the Institution among a wide and influential circle of supporters.

6. Not any great events requiring particular comment from the Visitors have occurred during the past year in the Royal Institution, which however, like a peaceful country affording little material for history, has continued to advance in wealth and prosperity, conferring benefits not only on its own people, but on all who are brought under its influence. This satisfactory condition must be attributed in a great degree to the energy and judgment of those who have been entrusted with its management; and the thanks of the Members are eminently due to the Honorary Secretary, WILLIAM SPOTTISWOODE, Esquire, who has shown an earnest and untiring zeal in the performance of his duties, which has enabled him to make arrangements greatly conducive to the advantage of the Institution.

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION

Is an association of individuals who are attached to Science, and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are :—

- I. To promote Scientific and Literary Research ;
- II. To teach the Principles of Inductive and Experimental Science ;
- III. To exhibit the Application of these principles to the various Arts of Life ; and
- IV. To afford opportunities for Study.

The ROYAL INSTITUTION comprises :—

I. TWO LABORATORIES for the promotion of Chemical and Physical Science, by experiments and original investigations. In the Physical Laboratory the researches of PROFESSOR DAVY, of PROFESSOR FARADAY, and of PROFESSOR TYNDALL, were conducted.

The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the Establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the Science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of Matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases,—the relation of Magnetism and Light,—the Physical Effects of Pressure on Diamagnetic Action,—the Absorption and Radiation of Heat by Gases and Vapours,—the Transparency of our Atmosphere, and the Opacity of its Aqueous Vapour to Radiant Heat, the Atmosphere as a Vehicle of Sound, and its Optical Condition in its bearings on Putrefaction and Infection,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Physical Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last seventy-seven years. In the Chemical Laboratory, formed out of the lower lecture-room, PROFESSOR FRANKLAND made some of his most important researches in Organic Chemistry. These Laboratories were rebuilt in 1872 by the liberality of the Members, in order that the Institution should not be inferior to other places in the means by which Original Discovery can be carried on ; and the liberal and permanent Endowment of the Professorships is now the chief thing wanting to ensure the promotion of Scientific Research.

II. PUBLIC LECTURES intended to supply that which Books or Private Instruction can rarely afford :—Experimental illustration and detailed descriptions of matters connected with Science or Art. They usually comprehend, a short Course at Christmas, and Six or more Courses, before and after Easter ; the Season lasting from the middle of January to the middle of June. The subjects of these Lectures are generally some of the different branches of Inductive Science—as Mechanics, Chemistry, Heat, Light, Electricity, Astronomy, Geology, Botany, and Physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as on History, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Literature, the Fine Arts, and Music.

III. WEEKLY MEETINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTION.—These are held on every Friday Evening during the Session, and the Members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by Tickets. The object of these Meetings is to bring together men of science and literature, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by Discourses in the Theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently recorded in the Scientific Memoirs of Philosophical Societies. Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the Speakers, are printed in the “PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTION,” a copy of which is sent to the Members. Volumes I. to VII. (1851 to 1875) are ready, price, to Members, 7s. 6d.; to Non-Members, 10s. 6d. each volume, bound. The Numbers for 1863 to 1877 (two each year) are sold for 1s. 6d. or 3s. each.

IV. A MODEL ROOM, containing Scientific Apparatus of historical interest and of present use.—The chief object of this collection is to furnish apparatus for research, and illustrations for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

V. A LIBRARY of about 36,000 volumes, including Works of Science,—the Transactions of the principal British and Foreign Academies and Scientific Institutions,—British History and Topography, including the Ancient Chronicles, eminent Modern Historians, County Histories, and many rare publications relating to these subjects,—Works on Literature, Art, and Antiquarian Research,—the best Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign Literature,—and an extensive collection of Historical and Miscellaneous Tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

THE CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY (with a Synopsis of Contents and Indexes of Authors and Subjects) by MR. VINCENT, the Keeper of the Library, is sold (bound) to the Members of the Royal Institution, for 10s.; to the Public, for 15s. A List of the Additions is printed annually, and sent to the Members.

In the UPPER LIBRARY will be found a collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Scientific Text-books, arranged for immediate reference.

VI. A READING ROOM FOR STUDY.—In this apartment will be found many Series of English, French, German, and Italian Scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of Works on the Natural, Medical, and Mathematical Sciences.

VII. A NEWSPAPER ROOM, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY is subscribed to, in order to afford the Members an opportunity of seeing the Newest Books as soon as published.

*.* The READING and NEWSPAPER ROOMS are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The UPPER LIBRARY is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

1. On considering the progress and position of the Institution, the Visitors think there is much cause for congratulation, Seventy-two new Members having been admitted in the past year, which appears to be the largest number ever known, except in the year 1870.

2. The Subscriptions to Lectures were considerably less than in 1875, when an extraordinary amount was received from that source, but they were sufficient to cover all the disbursements attendant upon the Lectures, and to leave a balance of Fifty-eight Pounds applicable to the general expenses. This result was partly owing to the liberality of the Honorary Secretary, WILLIAM SPOTTISWOODE, Esq., who declined to receive any payment for his successful Course of Lectures on Polarized Light, with brilliant illustrations, declaring himself sufficiently remunerated by the attention of his audience.

3. The total Income has increased by One Hundred and Eighty-three Pounds, this being principally owing to a larger number of Members than usual having paid compositions in lieu of future payments, which has enabled the Managers to make investments in the Three per Cent. Consols, amounting to £1396 8s. 1d., thereby increasing the invested funds to a larger amount than at any former period. It will be seen that the real and funded property of the Institution now amounts to Eighty-four Thousand Pounds, which, as arising entirely from the Contributions and Donations of the Members, is a result to be viewed with much satisfaction.

4. The Annual Expenses were larger than in the previous years, the item for repairs being increased by the amount incurred for necessary repairs and alterations.

5. The Annual Accounts of Income and Expenditure have been examined and compared with the Ledger and Vouchers, and with the Bankers' Pass-book, and are found to be correct; and the Visitors consider that the books are well kept, and the accounts stated in a clear and intelligible form.

6. The Library continues to increase in magnitude, nearly Four Hundred volumes having been added in the year, of which One Hundred and Sixty-four volumes were presented, for which the thanks of the Members are due to the various Donors.

7. They are also indebted to one of their most distinguished Members, WARREN DE LA RUE, Esq., D.C.L., F.R.S., for the present of a Thomson's Quadrant Electrometer, which will be of much assistance to the Professors in their Lectures and illustrations.

8. The Books purchased by the Managers are principally works of reference or of sterling and permanent value, in the selection of which they are assisted by the long experience and judgment of the Librarian.

9. The Discourses delivered at the Friday Evening Meetings continue to afford instruction and gratification to the Members and their friends, and by making the Institution known to a wider circle, they are a great means of promoting the introduction of new Members.

10. The Marble Statue of Michael Faraday, designed by the late eminent sculptor, J. H. Foley, R.A., in pursuance of the wishes of a large body of scientific admirers of the deceased Professor, has been placed for inspection in the Hall of the Institution, and is considered to be a faithful likeness by his Widow and personal friends, and as a work of genius by all.

11. In conclusion, the Visitors may say that they feel less difficulty in the performance of their duties from their assurance that for some years past the attention and ability shown by the Board of Managers have been a guarantee that the interest and prosperity of the Royal Institution have been steadily advanced and promoted.

THE ROYAL INSTITUTION

Is an association of individuals who are attached to Science, and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are :—

- I. To promote Scientific and Literary Research ;
- II. To teach the Principles of Inductive and Experimental Science ;
- III. To exhibit the Application of these principles to the various Arts of Life ; and
- IV. To afford opportunities for Study.

The ROYAL INSTITUTION comprises :—

I. TWO LABORATORIES for the promotion of Chemical and Physical Science, by experiments and original investigations.
In the Physical Laboratory the researches of PROFESSOR DAVY, of
PROFESSOR FARADAY, and of PROFESSOR TYNDALL, were conducted.

The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the Establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the Science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of Matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases,—the relation of Magnetism and Light,—the Physical Effects of Pressure on Diamagnetic Action,—the Absorption and Radiation of Heat by Gases and Vapours,—the Transparency of our Atmosphere, and the Opacity of its Aqueous Vapour to Radiant Heat, the Atmosphere as a Vehicle of Sound, and its Optical Condition in its bearings on Putrefaction and Infection,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Physical Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last seventy-seven years. In the Chemical Laboratory, formed out of the lower lecture-room, PROFESSOR FRANKLAND made some of his most important researches in Organic Chemistry. These Laboratories were rebuilt in 1872 by the liberality of the Members, in order that the Institution should not be inferior to other places in the means by which Original Discovery can be carried on; and the liberal and permanent Endowment of the Professorships is now the chief thing wanting to ensure the promotion of Scientific Research.

II. PUBLIC LECTURES intended to supply that which Books or Private Instruction can rarely afford:—Experimental illustration and detailed descriptions of matters connected with Science or Art. They usually comprehend, a short Course at Christmas, and Six or more Courses, before and after Easter; the Season lasting from the middle of January to the middle of June. The subjects of these Lectures are generally some of the different branches of Inductive Science—as Mechanics, Chemistry, Heat, Light, Electricity, Astronomy, Geology, Botany, and Physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as on History, Mental and Moral Philosophy, Literature, the Fine Arts, and Music.

III. WEEKLY MEETINGS OF THE MEMBERS OF THE INSTITUTION.—These are held on every Friday Evening during the Session, and the Members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by Tickets. The object of these Meetings is to bring together men of science and literature, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by Discourses in the Theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently recorded in the Scientific Memoirs of Philosophical Societies. Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the Speakers, are printed in the "PROCEEDINGS OF THE ROYAL INSTITUTION," a copy of which is sent to the Members. Volumes I. to VII. (1851 to 1875) are ready, price, to Members, 7s. 6d.; to Non-Members, 10s. 6d. each volume, bound. The Numbers for 1863 to 1878 (two each year) are sold for 1s. 6d. or 8s. each.

IV. A MODEL ROOM, containing Scientific Apparatus of historical interest and of present use.—The chief object of this collection is to furnish apparatus for research, and illustrations for the Lectures and the Friday Evening Discourses.

V. A LIBRARY of about 37,000 volumes, including Works of Science,—the Transactions of the principal British and Foreign Academies and Scientific Institutions,—British History and Topography, including the Ancient Chronicles, eminent Modern Historians, County Histories, and many rare publications relating to these subjects,—Works on Literature, Art, and Antiquarian Research,—the best Editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign Literature,—and an extensive collection of Historical and Miscellaneous Tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

THE CLASSIFIED CATALOGUE OF THE LIBRARY (with a Synopsis of Contents and Indexes of Authors and Subjects) by Mr. VINCENT, the Keeper of the Library, is sold (bound) to the Members of the Royal Institution, for 10s.; to the Public, for 15s. A List of the Additions is printed annually, and sent to the Members.

In the UPPER LIBRARY will be found a collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Scientific Text-books, arranged for immediate reference.

VI. A READING ROOM FOR STUDY.—In this apartment will be found many Series of English, French, German, and Italian Scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of Works on the Natural, Medical, and Mathematical Sciences.

VII. A NEWSPAPER ROOM, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A CIRCULATING LIBRARY is subscribed to, in order to afford the Members an opportunity of seeing the Newest Books as soon as published.

* * The READING and NEWSPAPER ROOMS are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The UPPER LIBRARY is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

OF
THE VISITORS
OF THE
Royal Institution of Great Britain
FOR THE YEAR 1877.

1. The examination of the Accounts of the Institution for the past year has shown that they are stated with their usual precision and clearness. The Visitors remark, that although the new Members have not been so many as in the last few years, yet the total of Members contributing annually continues to increase.

Owing to the general depression of business, and to the losses experienced by the depreciation of funds invested upon foreign securities, most of the Societies and Institutions in London have experienced a decrease of fresh contributors; but this does not seem to the Visitors likely to affect permanently the position of the Royal Institution, especially as the number of Candidates for election since the end of 1877, are quite equal to the average.

2. On the other hand the Subscriptions to Lectures have been above the average amount, exceeding those for 1876 by more than Two Hundred Pounds, and showing a Surplus above the immediate cost of Lectures of about Two Hundred and Ninety Pounds, applicable to the general expenses of the Institution. As this is in addition to the advantage derived by Members from their personal attendance at the Lectures, it must be considered very satisfactory, and as a proof that the different courses of Lectures were of great variety and interest; Physics, Chemistry, and Physiology having been ably represented by the Professors of the Institution, while Literature, History, Archæology, and Music have been successfully set forth by the eminent Lecturers selected to illustrate those subjects.

3. The Friday Evening Meetings have continued to afford pleasure and information to the Members and their friends, the most recent points of scientific research having been laid before them, with experimental illustrations, in some of the excellent discourses delivered in the past year. These have been the means of inducing a considerable number of Ladies to become Members of the Institution, chiefly the Wives and relatives of living or deceased Members; and as for some years past they have been admitted to seats in the body of the Theatre, their attendance has become a successful feature in the economy of the Institution, which the Visitors consider to be a source of congratulation, as the fairer portion of the audience seem to appreciate the discourses of the Lecturers with at least an equal degree of interest and attention to that shown by other Members.

4. In April last, JAMES DEWAR, Esq. M.A. F.R.S. was appointed Fullerian Professor of Chemistry, and delivered a Course of Lectures on the Chemical Philosophy of Sir Humphry Davy, which were well attended, and the Visitors think that he has shown himself an able and energetic inquirer and lecturer, his labours being greatly devoted to profound original investigations.

Professor TYNDALL has continued to act with his usual tact and ability, and both as a Lecturer and as Superintendent of the Institution has rendered most valuable service to the Members, by whom his exertions for their advantage are highly appreciated. The Juvenile Course of Lectures, at Christmas last, was kindly undertaken by him, and carried out with a facility of communicating instruction acquired by previous practice, but on which neither pains nor labour were spared to attain a complete and satisfactory result.

The Courses of Lectures delivered by Professor GARROD have also been attended with much interest, and were of a character worthy of the place in which they were delivered.

5. The Library has been further increased in extent and value by the addition of Three Hundred and Seventy Volumes, of which One Hundred and Ninety were presented by different donors, to whom the thanks of the Members are eminently due.

A warm acknowledgment must also be awarded to Doctor SIEMENS for his contribution of Magneto-Electric Apparatus and Engine, which the Visitors consider will prove to be a useful and valuable acquisition.

A small Ivory Bust of the late Professor FARADAY, by MATTHEW NOBLE, has also been presented by a Fellow-Member, WILLIAM BOWMAN, Esq. F.R.S. and forms a pleasing memento of a distinguished and valued friend.

6. The Report of the Visitors for the Year 1852, after referring to the improved position of the Royal Institution, as compared with its condition in 1832, concluded with the remark that it is a useful lesson sometimes to contrast what we are with what we have been. At the close of another Quarter of a Century, the Visitors may refer with much satisfaction to the present state of the Institution, as compared with that at its commencement. The number of Members contributing annually has increased from 344 to 544; the Laboratories have been rebuilt at a cost of more than Six Thousand Pounds; the payments to the Professors have been raised from Four Hundred and Fifty Pounds to One Thousand and Fifty Pounds annually; the Funded Property of the Institution, which in 1852 was £21,547, now amounts to £33,178; and the adjoining Leasehold Buildings, which were purchased in 1864, and which will ultimately allow of the possibility of enlarging the Building, are of the value of Seven Thousand Nine Hundred Pounds.

These facts are sufficient to show that the management of the Institution has been carried on with ability and judgment, and that while liberality has been exercised in rewarding the exertions of the Professors and Lecturers, the Managers have kept the expenditure within reasonable bounds.

The Visitors cannot but recognize that it speaks most highly for the management that this increase in material prosperity has been consistent with rendering high service in the diffusion and advancement of science.

7. There are periods in the existence of Institutions as well as in the life of individuals; but while the latter must be hastening on to decay and exhaustion, the former may be proceeding in a constantly improving career of usefulness and energy, gathering strength with increasing age, and advancing towards a full measure of eminence and prosperity.

In the Seventy-eight years which have elapsed since the commencement of the Institution, all its founders have long passed away; but the result of their labours, and of those of many worthy successors, remains for the advantage of existing and future Members, and it may be hoped will continue to do so for succeeding generations.

JOHN C. BURGOYNE, Secretary.

THE BOARD OF VISITORS feel that they do but express the wishes of the Members of the Royal Institution in recording a grateful appreciation of the services of Mr. BURGONYE, who now retires from the office of Honorary Secretary to the Board, which he has held for the last twenty-five years. Great indeed have been the beneficial changes in the Royal Institution his pen has from time to time had to record; and we may all share in the satisfaction with which he can delegate to his successor a state more prosperous than that which existed when he undertook the duties he has now finally discharged in drawing up the above Report.

His retirement presents a fitting occasion on which to thank him for the care and patience so long and so diligently manifested in the varied duties attached to the position of Honorary Secretary to the Board of Visitors of the Royal Institution. We cannot but regret that so able a man should feel it needful to retire from his active duties, and hope that we may still enjoy his presence in the Institution for many years to come.
